

Loretta Bonifacio serves as Forum magazine's Fiction Editor this spring. Loretta is a San Francisco native, chihuahua devotee, and cinephile. Some movies she recommends are When a Woman Ascends the Stairs by Mikio Naruse, 8½ by Federico Fellini, Vagabond by Agnès Varda, Dumb and Dumber by Peter Farrelly, Boogie Nights by Paul Thomas Anderson, and Mulholland Drive by David Lynch.

Loretta loves to write anything, from essays to short stories. Her favorite books include Like One of the Family by Alice Childress and The Illustrated Man by Ray Bradbury.

